Dear Mr. Jones,

I am Ryan Wilkins, a coordinator of the American Anti-Violence Association. Our goal, as shown by our mission statement, is to prevent future violence through education and awareness. Violence seen in our environment by young people, both by other people and in the media, can be harmful and cause people to commit future acts of violence. Repeated exposure to violence as a young person can lead to long-term aggressive behaviors, as proven by many scientific studies. Fortunately, we have a solution to the epidemic of violence in our country, but we need your help. Our solution is to educate communities and speak to students about the dangers of normalized violence. Students will have a fun experience, as there will be entertainment, raffles, free food and free shirts. To help us accomplish our goal of having every community and school across America aware of this problem, please donate today and prevent future tragedies such as school shootings. With your support and donations, you can help us save lives.

Kindest Regards,

Ryan Wilkins
